- Grow retirement savings faster through the power of tax deferral.
- Manage your investment strategy by transferring among a diverse selection of investment options free of tax consequences.
- Convert your assets to guaranteed, lifetime retirement income.
- Leave a financial legacy through a guaranteed death benefit.

Talk with your financial professional about the important role a Pacific Odyssey variable annuity could play as part of your retirement strategy. For more information, please refer to the prospectus.

Guarantees, including optional benefits, are subject to Pacific Life's financial strength and claims-paying ability and do not protect the value of the variable investment options, which are subject to market risk. The value of the variable investment options will fluctuate so that shares, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than the original cost.

Dollar Cost Averaging (DCA)

Dollar cost averaging (DCA) can be a convenient way to continuously invest, regardless of changing prices. However, it does not ensure a profit or protect against loss in declining markets. Investors should consider their financial ability to continue to invest, even when prices are low; in continually rising markets, there is a potential to end up with fewer units.

Asset Rebalancing

Rebalancing is a way to periodically adjust your individual investment option allocations without tax consequences, so as markets shift, you can keep your portfolio in-line with your original investment strategy. Systematic rebalancing may be set up for quarterly, semiannually, or annually. You may begin or cancel rebalancing at any time.

Protected

Income

Annuity Income Options

After the first contract year, you may elect to receive income payments that are guaranteed to last for life or a certain period of time. This is called annuitization. Choosing appropriately for your retirement strategy is important because once you convert your contract to annuity income payments, you cannot switch payout options. Amounts will differ based on the payout option and period selected. Usually, the longer the possible payout period, the lower the periodic payment amount. You can determine whether you want a fixed-dollar amount and/or a variable payout amount and how frequently you'll receive your payments.

Life Only

Protected income you can't outlive.

Periodic income payments for life are guaranteed.

Life with Period Certain¹

Protected income you can't outlive with protection for your beneficiary.

Periodic income payments will be made for life and guaranteed for a minimum period of 5 to 30 years (period certain). If you die before the end of the period certain, the remaining income will be paid out to your designated beneficiary. If you live longer than the period certain, you will continue to receive the income until you die.

Joint and Survivor Life

Protected income you and another person can't outlive.

Periodic income payments are guaranteed over your lifetime (as the primary annuitant) and the lifetime of another person (as the secondary annuitant).

Period Certain Only¹

Protected income over time.

Periodic income payments will be made over a specific period, from 5 to 30 years.

The minimum periodic income payment is $250 ($20 in New York), and your contract value must be at least $10,000 ($2,000 in New York).

¹For qualified contracts, the maximum length of time for the Period Certain options may be less than 30 years, if necessary, to comply with RMD regulations for annuities.

Optional Living Benefits

Purchasing one of Pacific Life's optional benefits with a variable annuity is another way you can receive guaranteed income for life and a level of assurance that, even in a down market, protection is in place.

Optional benefits are available for an additional cost and include investment allocation requirements that the company has in effect, which are subject to change. Ask your financial professional for more information and see the prospectus for more details. All optional benefits are subject to firm and state availability.

Death Benefits

Pacific Odyssey can help protect your beneficiaries with a guaranteed death benefit, which is available only prior to annuitization. The death benefit is payable prior to annuitization upon the death of the first owner or last annuitant. For contracts owned by a non-natural owner (for example, a trust), the death benefit is payable upon the death of the first annuitant.

Regardless of your death benefit option, if the owner is not an annuitant and the owner dies prior to annuitization, the death benefit amount will equal the contract value.

Standard Death Benefit

Offers the greater of:

- The contract value.
- The total of all purchase payments into the contract, adjusted for withdrawals. The adjustment is proportionate and may be more or less than the actual amount withdrawn.

Stepped-Up Death Benefit

For an additional annual fee of 0.20% of each subaccount's assets (deducted daily), and available only at contract issue for annuitants age 75 or younger, this optional death benefit offers the greater of the standard death benefit, or the highest step-up, which is the highest contract value on any previous contract anniversary prior to the annuitant's 81st birthday. The death benefit amount is increased for additional purchase payments and decreased by an adjustment for withdrawals. The adjustment is proportionate and may be more or less than the actual amount withdrawn.

Variable annuities are long-term investments designed for retirement.

Withdrawals cease at age 100, and the contract must be converted to annuity payouts (subject to state variations).

Under current law, a nonqualified annuity that is owned by an individual is generally entitled to tax deferral. IRAs and qualified plans—such as 401(k)s and 403(b)s—are already tax-deferred. Therefore, a deferred annuity should be used only to fund an IRA or qualified plan to benefit from the annuity's features other than tax deferral. These include lifetime income, death benefit options, and the ability to transfer among investment options without sales or withdrawal charges.
